

Know Your Zone

Preparing in advance for an evacuation can significantly speed up your response when the time comes. Being familiar with the steps to take and ready to act as soon as an evacuation warning or order is announced is crucial.

In times of evacuation warnings and confirmed evacuations, authorities emphasize the importance of residents being familiar with their specific evacuation zone. These zones are designated with a combination of letters and numbers, with the initial letters representing the name of the geographic area and further divided by numbers into smaller zones. It's recommended to familiarize yourself with your particular zone by checking your address at Genasys Protect. Click on the button below.

The City of Sedona's evacuation zones can be located here.

Currently, in addition to unincorporated Yavapai County, the Town of Camp Verde, Town of Dewey-Humboldt, and Town of Jerome, the City of Prescott, Town of Clarkdale, City of Cottonwood, and Town of Chino Valley are utilizing Genasys.

Know Your Zone

To save time during an emergency, it is important for residents to know your evacuation zone in advance. Enter your address into the map tool. The tool will tell you your zone name. It is important to write down the zone name and post it in a location easily accessible in an emergency.

Each zone has a description of the zone with the name, borders, current status, and additional information. Additional information may also be provided.

If an Evacuation Order or Warning is ordered, emergency officials will utilize alert and notification methods such as Wireless Emergency Alerts and Emergency Notifications to notify residents which zones are affected. Knowing your evacuation zone will allow you to respond more quickly.
